

HOW TO MANAGE INSURANCE COVERAGE IN THE SUBPRIME CRISIS

Presented by DRI's Insurance Law Committee

This webconference will explain the origin of the subprime crisis and the insurance industry's reaction to the multitude of claims arising from the litigation explosion. It will teach insurance practitioners the issues and key insurance policy language that may impact the outcome of coverage disputes arising from these claims. This course also explains how these issues arise under various types of policies, including general liability policies, directors and officers liability policies and errors and omissions policies.

Who Should Attend

- Insurance coverage practitioners who want to learn about the latest developments in insurance coverage for subprime litigation claims
- In-house counsel for companies affected by the crisis
- Commercial litigators involved in this litigation
- Insurance claims counsel and other professionals handling subprime claims

What Will You Learn

- An overview of the subprime crisis
- Identification of common insurance coverage issues arising from subprime litigation claims
- What to tell clients about the new trends affecting this area of the law
